Watch City Brewing Company

At the head of Moody Street's Restaurant Row, in the center of a silicon saavy Waltham, Massachusetts, a legendary brew pub is holding court — and creating some of the best hand crafted beer anywhere.

Welcome to Watch City Brewing Company. As both a restaurant and brewery it is at the core of a vibrant dining scene in the Metrowest. Since 1996 it has consistently provided its customers with fresh, handcrafted beer and intensely appetizing and delicious meals. Watch City beer is highly regarded on both a local and national level, winning distinctions for a number of the styles produced at it's Moody St. locale. Much like the jeweled pocket watches this city once manufactured, there's a professional respect for the craftsmanship of it's Brew Master, Aaron Mateychuk. The beer is always satisfying and never sparing for flavor or character.

The restaurant exudes a casual elegance with its high ceilings and burnished woodwork. The creative and nourishing menu is expanded by nightly dinner specials that aim to please both one's palate and pocketbook. With its proximity to the Embassy Cinema, it provides both an ideal launching point for an evening of entertainment as well as a spot to convene after a show. Stop by any evening at Watch City Brewing Company and see why so many folks in the Boston area make it their destination for quality and value. Not only is it the "place to be" for those seeking well prepared cuisine and real, expertly crafted beer but a place to be among friends.

Service is quick and courteous, with a group of knowledgeable staff prepared to make your experience at Watch City Brewing Company both pleasant and memorable. Watch City Brewing Company is where to wind up and the way to wind down.

WALTHAM - Truly a Unique and Historical City

In 1813 the Boston Manufacturing Company was formed in Waltham by Francis Cabot Lowell. It was the first time that all the processes for making cloth took place under one roof. It was the first modern factory in the United States and history books have credited this as the beginning of America's industrial revolution.

In 1854 the Waltham Watch Company was established by Aaron Dennison. The company went on to make the first watches with interchangeable parts and the first 100% American-made watch. The advanced machinery designed at the Waltham Watch Company spread to other industries and led to America's industrial power.

In the 1890's Charles Metz and the Waltham Manufacturing Company made a fine line of bicycles, including the famous ten-seater "Oriten" which is now located in the Ford Museum.

In 1903 the gasoline-powered Orient Buckboard was produced. It was followed by the Metz automobile, winner of the 1913 Glidden Tour.

Waltham is also noted as the home of such famous persons as Governor Christopher Gore and General Nathaniel Banks.

These are only a few of the reasons why Waltham is truly a unique and historical city.
